Teachers Will Not Be Reinstated. Who Hold Such Views.

W REGULATIONS

Foreign Visitors Must Have Clean Bill of Health on Political Views in Future.

PARIS, Dec. 6. (AP)—The police here today announced their campaign against communists this afternoon by suspending and raiding what is known as a soviet agency headquarters in a suburb of this city. The police sought important documents.

PARIS, Dec. 6. (AP)—The French government has decided to suppress communist agitation in which was evidenced strikingly by the demonstration at the Pantheon ceremony and the occasion of the arrival of assassinator Krassins from Moscow.

A large number of foreign agitators are expected to be sent in the group of fifty being started the frontier today. Elements of disorder arose among the large group of foreign workers employed the premier stated.

The cabinet discussed the communist activity at length at a meeting and decided not to re-educate communist school teachers as by the preceding government regulations affecting foreign visitors which will require of identification which will in pertinent particulars about bearers and photographs, are expected to become effective soon.

GLAND TRADES WITH BALKANS

Interest Has Been Aroused Balkans As Result Of Large Trade With British.

SAU, Latvia, Dec. 6. (AP)—and today is doing almost as business with the states bordering on Russia as was carried on the Russian empire before the war.

According to L. W. Lyde, professor of geography in London University, and his assertions have considerable interest in the Baltic states. Latvia alone has more British goods last year than Soviet Russia, and Finland two and a half times as much from England as the Moscovite government.

Professor Lyde maintains that few of the English goods enter the new Baltic states. He says that the new Baltic states have shipped into Soviet Russia last year Soviet Russia took in goods valued at about $12,000,000. The Baltic states bought products valued at $46,000,000.

Muscovite Russia is too large and limited in its buying to consume large quantities of manufactured goods according to the English professor, and points out that much of the productive territory of the Russian empire is now outside of Soviet territory and that the area of the European Russia is overpopulated.

Professor Lyde says the loss of 250,000 to 300,000 persons of territory as a result of the war has not bettered Soviet Russia's overpopulation situation. He is much richer land in the main.

Russia's total wheat and rye are not sufficient to supply own population with a daily ration of one pound a person. Professor Lyde says it is an error to regard her as exercising considerable influence on the world price of breadstuffs.

The Franco-Russian war in America into the European market Professor Lyde says Russia exercised a sort of monopoly, but now, he says, "Russia is a mere slave to American goods, with which she cannot compete in quality, or even in price. She exercises no influence on the world food prices."

THE MARKETS

ATLANTA, Dec. 6. (AP)—The market here today was one of slow, steady movement. The cotton market was unchanged. The sugar market was steady. The rice market was steady. The flour market was steady. The oil market was steady. The grain market was steady. The livestock market was steady. The poultry market was steady. The dairy market was steady. The fruit market was steady. The vegetable market was steady. The fish market was steady. The seafood market was steady. The game market was steady. The fur market was steady. The jewelry market was steady. The clothing market was steady. The shoe market was steady. The hat market was steady. The accessory market was steady. The miscellaneous market was steady.

MUST FILE MERIT RATING SCHEDULE

Insurance Companies Must File Schedules With Workmen's Compensation Board.

FRANKFORT, Ky., Dec. 6.—The Workmen's Compensation Board has ordered all insurance companies to file with the board for its consideration the merit rating schedules, either individually or collectively, it became known today.

The order came with the board's overall demand of some coal operators, said insurance companies, principally the oil line companies, to the application of many coal operators for increase in the present Kentucky basic coal mine compensation rate of $37.50 annually on every $1,000.00.

The increase sought is one fixing a $4.70 rate and minimum rate of $33.00 against the present minimum rate of $28.50.

The compensation board is attempting to take over rate-making, it finds through the courts that it has the authority.

The custom at present is for the Southern Mine Rating Bureau to file on behalf of its members coal mine rates for nominal review and formal approval by the board, according to Forrest Fields, secretary.

In a plea to jurisdiction of the board the dissenting coal operators objected to the application of granting of the increase. These operators contended that the board has no jurisdiction under the workmen's compensation act to proceed, "and has no jurisdiction or authority to so fix or promulgate any compulsory uniform basic or minimum rates to be collected from such operators by all insurance carriers from whom they may procure the compensation insurance which they are required by said act to procure."

These operators included the Tierney Mining Company, North East Coal Company, Cornett-Lewis Coal Company.

The insurance companies, objecting to the increase, threaten to leave the state if the increase is granted the operators, making the application.

The upshot of the board's taking over the rate-making would be a larger payroll necessitated and hence the question would first be submitted to the courts, Mr. Fields said.

Bomb Outrages Fail To Disturb Lisbon

LISBON, Dec. 6.—(AP)—Lisbon has been the scene of so many bomb outrages, during the last two months, that the ravages are altering the appearance of the central part of the city. In all the principal streets there are ruined shops and blackened piles of stone marking the scene of each explosion, while neighboring buildings show shattered windows and cracked walls.

It is all the work of communists, and just at present the strikes of barbers and waiters afford them an excuse for this destruction. The explosions occur almost nightly, and cafes, hotels and barber shops are the chief sufferers. Dynamite and nitro-glycerine are used. The bombs are set off virtually under the eyes of the police. The criminals are seldom caught. Arrests by the police have brought retaliation in the form of assassination, and as a result the officers of the law are apathetic.

The activities of these agitators does not end with bomb explosions. To them is attributed by the public a recent series of railroad accidents, including a derailment in which there were 40 casualties.

SHARK'S TEETH WITHSTAND DECAY

LONDON, Dec. 6.—(AP)—Shark's teeth and fossils, believed to belong to a period of at least 10,000 years ago, have been found in a 1,400 foot well at Virginia Water, near Windsor. The discovery bears out the supposition that at one time the British Isles were inundated and that they were formed by the changing of the Gulf Stream.

"UNION DEPOT" WELL RECEIVED

Approximately Seven Hundred People Enjoy Performance of Home Talent Play.

The "Union Depot" given under the auspices of the Womans Club attracted a large audience to the Central school building last night, the audience being by far the largest ever assembled in the building. A typical "tank town" depot furnished the stage setting for the play—everything being complete from groggy scales and dilapidated stove to glaring posters.

Mrs. J. L. Eledge, as the Candy Kid, made a decided hit with her gun mastication, telephone conversation and general disregard of the king's English.

Mrs. C. K. Brosheer, taking the part of Martha Ketchum, presented styles in dress dating years ahead of the present day creations.

Mountjoy Savage as Billy Bunch, was a close second to Martha in the matter of dress. His ice cream trousers were a scream.

Miss Bessie Edwards as Portia Bennett, Graham Chadwick as the station master, Lyle Webster and Miss Mary Skein as Mr. and Mrs. Pitkin, the wrangling couple, Mr. Rodefer as Rev. Visage were all fine in their respective parts.

The parts of the three school girls taken by Mrs. H. E. Verran, Mrs. Jacob Schultz and Mrs. C. W. Bailey, the trio made a decided hit.

William Wallbrecht as the duke, looked and acted the part. Mrs. W. L. Burnett and Lyle Webster as Mr. and Mrs. Nagg were extra good and brought down the house.

Mr. Frasier as Prof. Ruggles, Mrs. J. Faulkner as Mrs. Poor, and attendant children, Rev. McClure, as Mr. Spookendyke and Mrs. C. L. Keegan as Miss Blathers all acted their parts exceptionally well.

The boys' dance orchestra played several selections before the play which were very acceptable. Surnans orchestra rendered two classical numbers which were a delight to every one. The boys' quartette rendered Santa Lucia in a very pleasing manner.

The presentation throughout reflected credit on everyone connected with the presentation.

CLOSE OUT MANY RAILROAD CLAIMS

Some 10,000 Cases Brought By Individuals Are Yet To Be Disposed Of.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 6.—(AP)—Director General of Railroads James C. Davis expects, soon after January 1st next, to make a complete report regarding adjustments with railroads as a result of Federal wartime control. Railroad claims are practically closed out, but there remain to be disposed of some 10,000 cases which individuals have brought against the government.

A substantial reduction in the force of Mr. Davis' office already has taken place, but the wind-up of the United States Railroad Administration awaits termination of the individual claims.

This settling of millions of dollars in claims between the railroads and the Federal Government, Mr. Davis calls "the largest liquidation of a single commercial interest ever undertaken."

John Hopkins To Offer New Honor

BALTIMORE, Dec. 6. (AP)—Undergraduate students at John Hopkins University will have open to them this year the possibility of winning a new honor. To the list of prizes already offered by the institution and its friends will be added a cup in memory of the late Alexander K. Barton, which is to be awarded to some senior this year for the first time.

The award of this cup is to be based upon character, high ideals, and effective moral leadership, the recipient to be determined by the vote of the senior class each year. The presentation will take place on class day.

The cup is established primarily by younger men who knew Mr. Barton intimately. Mr. Barton served as an artillery officer of the Rainbow Division in the World War and later entered the ministry.

Road Construction Will Have Eighty Million Next Year

Annual Agricultural Appropriation Bill Reported In House.

FOREST PROTECTED

Stockyards And Packers Will Come In For Additional Attention Through Budget.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 6. (AP)—Eighty million of dollars for road construction is carried in the annual agricultural appropriation bill reported today to the house of representatives. The sum which is sixty one million dollars over the amount provided in last year's bill.

The road construction item is the principal feature of the measure which carries a total of one hundred and twenty one million dollars or fifty eight million more than the amount available for this year.

Among the measures included were appropriations for additional forest lands enforcement, packers and stock and ant enforcement and grain futures enforcement.

DUTCH ARE SOLID FOR DISARMAMENT

"No More Money For War Is The Sentiment Expressed By People of Netherlands."

THE HAGUE, Holland, Dec. 6. (AP)—If the defense apparatus that greeted Professor Embden's recent anti-militaristic address is any indication of the general feeling of the country, the people of the Netherlands may be said to be virtually solid for disarmament.

The spokesman for the abolition of the army and navy met General Snijders, formerly commander in chief of the Dutch army, at a public debate before a packed audience in the biggest assembly hall in the Dutch royal residence. Thousands of people belonging to all classes of society eagerly followed the arguments on both sides. A battery of sound amplifiers had been installed for the benefit of a multitude outside who had been crowded out.

Both speakers agreed that despite the Geneva conventions the menace of war had not been wholly lifted from the world, and they envisaged Holland's position in the eventuality of another war in the light of the fact that the country had miraculously escaped from being dragged in to the last world conflict. How could Holland's future safety be best insured, they asked.

By total disarmament, the professor argued. Never by disarmament but only adequate preparation to keep the enemy out, declared the general.

Professor Van Emden made his audience shudder by recounting the horrors of gas warfare, citing reports by Brigadier General Amos Alfred Fries, chief of the American chemical Warfare Service, Major General William Luther Sibert and General Tasker H. Bliss. "If the next war finds us an armed nation, we shall be utterly and irretrievably lost," He declared.

General Snijders agreed that Holland coveted nothing, and that the next war could never be an aggressive one as far as Holland was concerned. He pointed out that Holland was an agricultural, not an industrial country, and therefore ill equipped for the production of warlike material. As to gas warfare, his opinion was that it had come to stay, and timely defensive precautions were essential. He said that injuries by gas were not necessarily more horrible than those produced by red-hot shell splinters. Now, he demanded, could the country be saved from being overrun by a belligerent unless it possessed the means of resisting encroachments.

Prospects of further heavy military expenditure, as fore-shadowed in the budget estimates, had not missed their effects on the audience. General Snijders' appeal for preparedness was punctuated with shouts of "No more money for war!" and the end of his speech was drowned in tumult. The meeting broke up with the audience singing anti-militaristic songs.

ROBBERS EMULATE OLD JESSE JAMES

Modern Bandits Use Flivver In Place Of Horse When They Plan To Make A Haul.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Dec. 6. (AP)—Three men recently tried "to pull the Jesse James stunt on the Gamaliel bank except that they used a 'flivver' instead of a horse," a statement of the Kentucky Bankers' Association today reviewed. The story read:

"Two of the men entered the bank and forced S. B. Ray, cashier, and the assistant cashier into the vault and locked them in. Fortunately a screw driver had been placed in the vault for just such an emergency and the officials soon were able to free themselves and give the alarm."

"The sheriff of Monroe county was soon on the job and chased the bandits to the Tennessee line. He then telephoned the sheriff of Macon county, Tennessee, who captured two of the men. The third was captured later and all three are now in the Tompkinsville jail awaiting trial."

"As there is no doubt about the conviction of these bandits the guarantors of the reward will soon be asked to 'kick in'. Before this reward was offered two or three banks a week were caught. It has been a different story since the reward became effective as only one bank, protected by the reward, has been attacked and the robbers escaped."

"Two claims have already been filed for the Gamaliel reward, but if the claimants cannot settle it between themselves the money will be paid into court, as has been done in a number of cases, and the judge will say as to how it shall be divided."

Another story is told, that of one who "tried his game once too often and is now in the toils of the law."

A. S. Wilson, described in a warning sent from association headquarters Nov. 10, dropped in to Mt. Vernon and presented his letter to Floyd Miller, cashier of the Peoples bank. The story continues:

Mr. Miller remembered the warning and promptly had Wilson placed under arrest. Wilson has been returned to Olive Hill where he forged a check on the Carter County Commercial Bank for $25. If any member of the association was defrauded by this man they should communicate with the bank at Olive Hill and prefer charges."

Deadly Cigarette Strangles Palate

LONDON, Dec. 6. (AP)—The British palate for vintage wines is being strangled by the cigarette and cocktail craze, according to a London wine expert, who also finds that steady drinking of whisky will ruin any palate for the mellow products of France, Spain, and Portugal.

In this connection one of the leading trade publications says that the consumption of claret of all grades "is not a tithe of what it was even 20 years ago."

Claret is now almost a thing of the past," a wine merchant declared, and I should imagine that it is drunk by only a small proportion of those who did so before the war. Its place has been usurped by whisky and soda. Young men nowadays do not know a really good wine when it is given to them. They prefer the inevitable small Scotch and splash, even though it really costs them more."

"More people, including women, now drink whisky and sodas than ever before in my memory. More bottles of whisky are sold at the present price of 12 shillings 6 pence than ever in the days when it could be bought for 4 shillings 6 pence."

THE WEATHER

WASHINGTON, Dec. 6.—Weather outlook for the week beginning Monday. Rain and mild temperature Sunday night turning to snow showers. Much colder Monday and Monday night. Cold until the middle of the week when somewhat warmer. Rain or snow in the latter part of the week.

PRESIDENT IS PLEASED WITH WESTERN TRIP

Returns With Mrs. Coolidge to Washington Last Night.

PULLMAN USED

No Special Car On Return Journey—Coffee Was All Right.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 6. (AP)—Having set a precedent in the manner of travel, President and Mrs. Coolidge returned to Washington at 8 o'clock last night after their visit to the Chicago live stock exposition.

The executive seemed well satisfied with his economy experiment in the use of regular trains and the usual accommodations rather than special trains or private cars, and members of the party that accompanied him to Chicago declared it would not be surprising if on all future trips he should choose to travel as he did on the one ended tonight.

Railroad officials, however, felt relieved when the train drew into the Union Station. Transportation of a presidential party always places the greatest responsibility on the railroad over which the executive chooses to travel and the train men who took Mr. Coolidge to and from Chicago frankly asserted that his use of regular equipment hardly lessened the responsibility.

The train of which Mr. Coolidge returned was a more private and special in its nature than the one on which he made the trip to the Illinois city. Because of the addition of the two cars occupied by the party, the regular train was split at Willard, Ohio, and these coaches with a through Chicago-Washington sleeper and observation car were made into a first section.

The executive passed most of the long days ride resting after the busy hours in Chicago. He and Mrs. Coolidge, as on the westward trip, took their meals in the diner, and at breakfast he discomfited the dining car steward with one of his dry bits of humor. That the official appeared near the end of the meal to inquire if the president and his first lady had found his coffee to their liking.

"It was delicious," replied Mrs. Coolidge, smilingly, whereupon the president, with solemn face asked: "Why did you think there was something wrong with it?"

WHAT "BOB" EXPENDED

WASHINGTON, Dec. 6. (AP)—The expenditures of the LaFollette-Wheeler campaign committee to Dec. 2, reported to the House of Representatives today, totaled $221,936.00.

Pension Bureau Increases List

WASHINGTON, Dec. 6.—(AP)—Preparation and mailing of 6,577,171 checks for an aggregate of $239,004,814 was an item in the year's business of the pension bureau. The bureau's annual report today said it has 525,530 names on its pension lists, as against 539,754 a year ago.

Pensioners now on the roll include 140,815 Civil War veterans; 233,136 Civil War widows; 85,023 Spanish War veterans, and 16,104 Spanish War widows. Still surviving are 31 Mexican war veterans and 38 widows of soldiers of the war of 1812.

During the past year death removed from the lists 21,808 Civil War veterans and 11,444 Civil War widows. These decreases were largely offset by a gain of 16,615 in the Spanish War soldier roll and of 2,937 in the Spanish War widow roll.

A recent reorganization of the bureau has resulted in more expeditious settlement of pension claims and the speeding up of disposition of pension payments, besides making possible elimination of 150 positions with an estimated saving of $215,000 in government salaries annually.

Solicitor Finds Witness To Edwards Murder Mystery

Wilson Dam Is Deemed an Engineering Achievement, Is Second to Panama Canal.

TO BE MEMORIAL

WASHINGTON, Dec. 6.—(AP)—America's war time president is to have an enduring memorial in Wilson Dam at Muscle Shoals, to be commissioned late in the summer of 1925.

The project, deemed an engineering achievement second only to the Panama Canal, was 82½ percent completed October 1, the date of the latest formal report. An appropriation of $7,000,000 more will be required from Congress. The total cost, with eight generators installed, will be $45,800,000, and the dam will be capable of producing power some time next summer. It will have an ultimate capacity of 600,000 horsepower, over the disposition of which a bitter controversy is raging in Congress.

Wilson Dam will eventually create an artificial lake, extending upstream in the Tennessee river about 18 miles, with an average width of three quarters of a mile. The dam proper is considered the largest in the world and is a mile long, 137 feet high, and covers 20 acres. The work is under the general supervision of Major General Harry Taylor, chief of army engineers, with Lt. Col. George R. Spalding in immediate charge of the construction forces.

Some 230,000 horsepower of hydroelectric generating apparatus will be ready by next summer. A power house, 1,250 feet long, 160 feet wide and 134 feet high, will be in use. A two stage lock for navigation, with a total lift of 93 feet, forms one of the features in connection with the project.

Surplus waters during flood periods in the river will be passed through 58 steel flood control gates each 38 feet long and 18 feet high. The dam or spillway section 14½, 950 feet long, 95 feet high from the river bed, and is 105 feet thick at the base. Thirteen special spillways equipped with butterfly valves will pass surplus water during normal flow on the river.

Wilson Dam is officially known as "Dam Number Two," and is one of three projected in the Tennessee river at Muscle Shoals. Dam Number One is a small navigating dam, not yet authorized to be two miles below Wilson Dam.

The principle obstruction to navigation are the shoals in the Muscle Shoals area, and completion of Wilson Dam will be the first great step towards opening up that region to water development.

German President Is True Democrat

BERLIN, Dec. 6.—(AP)—The most unpretentious calling card of all the German government officials is that of Frederick Ebert, president of the republic. It is of medium size with the simple engraving "Ebert, Reichs president."

It is believed in some circles that the modest card of the chief executive was designed with the view that the president himself desired to set the pace in a movement started some time ago to rid the country of superfluous titles.

BOGGS RESIGNS

FRANKFORT, Dec. 6. (AP)—Joe S. Boggs, state highway engineer, tendered his resignation to the state highway commission. Boggs also suggested that the state highway commission also resign, at least those who have controlled the road policy of the state administration.

Boggs said that he wished to leave the state service as soon as the commission would accept his resignation. The retiring engineer suggested that public favor should change the commission personnel.

The immediate cause of the resignation was that chairman W. C. Montgomery, in a recent statement scored Boggs and charged him with the responsibility for the financial embarrassment of the highway department according to Boggs statement today.

Fingerprints on Anaesthetic Bottle Tally With DoctorsMORE MYSTERY

Officials Refuse To Give Further Information Regarding Matter—Neighbors Have Evidence.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Dec. 6. (AP)—More mystery was added last night to the death of Mrs. George T. Edwards, in connection with which her husband, a prominent physician is being held when Solicitor Ben Perry announced that an eye witness to the tragedy had been found.

Mrs. Edwards was found slain Tuesday morning after an anaesthetic is believed to have been administered to her.

Solicitor Perry who is handling the case for the state refused to give further information. He admitted a move for the crime which so far has not been established has been furnished by the alleged witness. The solicitor said that he obtained his information from neighbors but could not reveal it now as it might prove a handicap in working up the case.

Chief A. A. Anthony of the Fairfield police department announced today that a man without a coat was seen leaving the vicinity of the Edwards home after the slaying with an apparently injured person or had no connection with the crime. His identity has been established it is said, and proof submitted that he had been elsewhere.

While statements were being made that an eye witness had been found and a motive established, it was being gathered both for and against Dr. Edwards who held the Bessmer jail. The story of the case is that he was shot in the arm while trying to repel an intruder into his home who had already crushed the skull of his wife after giving her a large dose of sleeping pills. He claimed that he fired three times at the intruder as he fled.

Finger prints of Dr. Edwards taken yesterday were further compared today with those on a bottle of the anaesthetic found in the room and found to tally exactly according to J. L. Sprinkle, county fingerprint expert, and Chief T. L. Anthony, of the Fairfield "optical force." Sprinkle announced last night that they were similar but would make no positive announcement until an examination was made in the sunlight today.

Officials point out, however, that the tally of the fingerprints "cannot have too much bearing on the case as Dr. Edwards picked up the bottle after he had humiliated him as did other persons who reached the scene early.

Fur Buyers Should Ever Be Vigilant

OLYMPIA, Wash., Dec. 6.—(AP)—Fur-bearing animals the world over are steadily decreasing in number, but it will be possible to purchase some 30 varieties on the market, by name at least, as long as there are plenty of rabbits, hares and muskrats obtainable, according to officials of the federal biological survey here. The survey is undertaking a campaign against the misnaming of furs, the movement having been started to protect the public against unscrupulous dealers.

Hares and rabbits, says the officials, are being sold under the names of American seal, Arctic seal, Cape seal, cat, chinchilla, sheep seal, cone, opaline, fox, French sable, Gopher seal, Ice Moose seal, new seal, Polar seal, Raccoon seal, muskrat, northern seal, Polar seal, Semenov seal and vobis. Muskrat appears on the market, it is claimed under such alluring titles, as "Alaskan seal, electric seal, Hudson Bay seal, moose seal, real seal, river seal, river muskrat, river seal and Russian seal."

No fault is found with the fact that merely fail to call attention to the fact that a "Polar seal" comes from the skin of a polar bear or that a "Hudson Bay seal" is the skin of a beaver.

The officials warn, however, that the public should be vigilant in the purchase of furs, and that they should be sure to get the real thing.

EVERETT TRUE—BY CONDO

AND THAT'S THAT

HUNT'S DAILY LETTER

By Harry B. Hunt

WASHINGTON, Dec. 6.—Snaps from the galleries as Congress swings into action for the last day of the short session.

In the Senate: Curtis, the new G. O. P. leader, and Reed Smoot, old-guard bristler, with their heads together talking things over as the rank and file of more senators assemble.

A subdued buzz of conversation. Old friends and fellow-partisans shaking hands, slapping backs and talking things over. Also ancient enemies and party rivals doing the same.

Senatorial courtesy, for this one day, is being spread on thick. Jim Watson, for instance, a "10-minute-egg" from the reactionary nest, just named as assistant leader of the Senate majority, greets the Hon. La Follette, whom he just helped give the "bum's rush" across the party threshold, like a long lost brother.

To strangers in the gallery they must appear like two bosom pals greeting each other with hysterical affection after a summer's separation. But—

As their right hands clasp, each probably wonders what the other is getting ready to do with his left.

Now faces on the floor. Yes; that stocky, gray-haired, bristly mustached man Senator Lodge's old seat is the Republican national chairman—Butler of Massachusetts.

The thin-haired, ruddy-faced man in the white-clothed suit is the new senator from Colorado, Riley Mauna. He supplants Alva Adams for the unfinished term of the late Senator Nicholson.

The dignified senatorish-looking gent in the cutaway coat is Jesse H. Metcalf, Rhode Island Republican, who came to serve out the term of LeBaron B. Colt, deceased.

The Democratic side of the aisle, however, as always, is the most colorful.

Tom Heflin's cream-colored vest is like a patch of sunshine in a somber sky.

Copeland of New York is wearing his old-time red carnation. A red badge of courage, perhaps.

But look, Bill of Washington is wearing a posy, too. Clingens looks like a rose.

Not a sign of creep in sight. Democrats do best defeat bravely. They're so used to it.

Over in the House, Speaker Gillett gives evidence of having had his Van Dyke newly trimmed. He holds the fashion plate of the Senate when he gets over there next Congress.

Nick Longworth is sporting a snappy tobacco-brown suit. He holds his surety force behind the majority leader's table in the middle of the Republican side. Well bathed, well tailored, Nick looks as happy and satisfied as an expectant speaker and papa might. For Nick soon hopes to be both.

That touch of color on the Republican side is the luminous bronze of Mrs. Mae Nolan's auburn coiffure. As the lone woman in Congress, she will be supplanted after this session by Mrs. Norton of New Jersey. Next to her sits her daughter, a plump miss of about 16, and beyond her gray-haired Henry Allen Cooper, Wisconsin insurgent, who has just been elected to his sixteenth term in Congress.

What was a subdued buzz of conversation on the Senate side is a roaring bedlam of sound in the House.

The reading clerk shouts at the top of his lungs as he calls the roll, but still is barely heard above the tumult.

Outside, an icy, wintry wind roars. Gusty. Blustery. It is equally windy inside. But it is

MANY HAVE PLANS TO UNITE EUROPE

Nearly All Suggest That Europe Federate and Become a Sort of United States.

BERLIN, Dec. 6.—(AP).—Pan-European suggestions are constantly bubbling up all over Europe, but nearly all the men and women who want Europe to federate and become a sort of United States of Europe have a pet scheme as to the exact way the federation should be effected.

Count Coudenhove-Kalergi, the Austrian publicist who has recently attracted much attention by his writings on the subject of a Pan-European and was a speaker in the recent session of the International Peace Congress in Berlin, does not think that England and Russia can be members of a successful Pan-European organization.

His scheme for pacifying Europe is quite unlike that of the late St. Max Waechter, who recently died in London. He was known for years as the old man who never failed to talk with kings and politicians throughout Europe about the advisability of abolishing customs barriers in Europe and federating all European states, much after the manner the United States is federated, with an international police force to keep order instead of competitive armies which were keeping their nations poor.

Count Coudenhove-Kalergi

thinks the interests of Europe are too varied for all the nations to be brought together. He regards the British Empire as a group which must stand quite alone because of its racialization and power. Russia is another widely spread empire which he believes must stand alone. So his Pan-European would be Europe without the British Isles and Russia.

League of Nations advocates are especially hostile to the Coudenhove-Kalergi plan, which is frankly critical of the League of Nations on the ground that it is too much centralized to be operated with success. It is the idea of Coudenhove-Kalergi that the various groups or sections into which he would divide the world could co-operate and maintain much better relations by standing alone than they were all consolidated in one group.

Eastern Asia, that as is Japan, China, would be a separate group under the Coudenhove-Kalergi scheme.

Commissions Offered Veterans
HAVANA, Dec. 6. (AP).—Approximately 60 enlisted men of the Cuban army are soon to be put in training for promotions to second lieutenants. This is under a new law providing that men who have served 20 years in the army, an eight years of that as sergeant, may on their request be given an opportunity to qualify for commissions.

Regular Meeting Monday
The Woman's Club will hold a business meeting at the rooms at 3 o'clock Monday afternoon. The program will be in the direction of the philanthropic section with Miss Elizabeth Jackson, superintendent of the Nettleton home at Harlan, in charge, and plans for Christmas for the girls in the home will be discussed. Miss Lola will sing a solo and Miss McManis will play a violin.

A Beautiful Bridge
Hotel Cumberland
Mrs. J. C. Richardson contributed the social affairs of the week a beautiful bridge party, Friday afternoon, given in the grill room of the Cumberland hotel.

Christmas greens and chrysanthemums in shades of orchid, formed the decorations. The guests numbered seventy-five, the majority of them taking hands in this fascinating game.

Others came in later for tea. Mrs. Will Motch made the highest score, thus winning the first prize, which was a handsome beaded silver sand-tray. Mrs. Helen Forrester running a close second won a pair of lovely candle sticks. The third prize a bridge set was given to Mrs. Chas. G. Smythe. A delicious salad course was served. Chrysanthemums were given as favors.

Is Busy Filling Pudding Orders

Mrs. Ellen Drain's plum pudding recipe, which appeared on the Woman's page of a recent issue of the Daily News, has attracted wide attention. In fact Mrs. Drain states that she has more orders for plum pudding than she can fill. This is only another evidence that the Daily News is read by every one. Its readers not only appreciate tested recipes, but are eager to use it as a medium to satisfy their needs.

Hold Services For D. Gibson Sunday

Funeral services for Doyle Gibson, 22, who died Friday from injuries sustained in a state slide in the Harlan coal fields will be held at 2:00 o'clock Sunday afternoon at the home in the West End. Dr. Sam P. Martin of the First Baptist church will conduct the services.

Interment will take place at the Hensley cemetery.

Alva Campbell Has Fine Imported Dog

Alva Campbell has just received another fine imported bull dog. This is an English bull imported from St. John, New Brunswick, Canada. Papers accompanying this dog include export papers together with full pedigree and registration papers.

The name of the dog is "Smiler Cleasure" and the register number is 24771. The sire "Who Goes There" was imported from England. The number was 23900. This type of bull dog is a very rare specimen. There is very few of them in the United States.

Barnyard Golfers Still Toss Shoes

Middlesboro's Second Horseshoe contest is still going with full steam ahead. Cold weather does not affect an enthusiast of barnyard golf so the Playground's Courts have been in constant use. The contest is narrowing down. Steinhour, Dr. Van Kirk, Algon and Acuff are still holding their own but this coming week will tell the tale. These contests are bringing out unknown stars and games are getting very close as a consequence.

Horseshoe pitching has become very popular—almost any time during the day and night the Courts are in use. The courts are kept in good shape so that a good game can be played on them at any time.

The Horseshoe League met recently and a vote taken to have membership in the Association. This will entitle a member to the use of the Horseshoe Association's shoes, a key to a cabinet where shoes and other things may be kept and privilege to enter contests conducted by the Association.

Jack Frost Keeps Children In Doors

The Playground suffered a little the past week owing to the advent of cold weather. But the supervision was continued as best as weather allowed. Much time is being spent in the High School Gym on Saturday mornings when organized games are taught and played. This is a big drawing card and the boys enjoy it immensely.

In the Ward school football is still vigorously played. Junction has put up two basketball posts with the baskets and the girls are taking to playing basketball. Newtown has purchased a volley ball net and ball and the girls now play volley ball which is very popular. The smaller boys at Newtown play playground baseball and have lots of fun out of it. Teachers in these schools have already noted an increase in behavior and a betterment in the studies of these boys. This is an encouraging result but somewhat to be expected. Athletics and good scholarship go together, a boy that plays hard usually works hard in the classroom.

The story hour on Friday afternoon is continuing and many children find this the delight of the week. The women of Middlesboro who conduct this hour take a great deal of pains in preparing for this hour and have a splendid variety to offer the children.

German Toy Makers Slight Tin Soldier

NUREMBERG, Dec. 6. (AP)—The little tin soldiers for this year's Christmas in Germany has given way to aerobats, black and white mechanical dolls, various kinds of toy radio sets, and miniature housekeeping outfits with kitchen, dining room, living room, bedroom, parlor and bath complete.

What few soldiers one sees are made of wood, owing to the high cost of metal. Although their uniforms of paint are just as bright as ever, and the officers and soldiers just as stiff and pretentious looking as it is possible for the wood carver to make them, the fighters and their equipment of side arms, cannon and swords are not as popular by any means as they were prior to 1914.

One of the season's novelties is a colored boy, made for export chiefly to the United States, which plays a mouth organ when one squeezes his body.

There has been an unusual call for mouth organs, especially from America, dealers say, and German manufacturers worked overtime last summer to supply the demand.

ANTICIPATES CHRISTMAS

The old saying "Christmas comes but once a year" has a different meaning to different people. To some it comes as a time when they can show their affection to those they love in a substantial gift, while to others it is a sad time for the necessary funds for providing the much desired Christmas gifts are not available.

Citizens Bank & Trust Company bank has been carrying on wonderfully successful plan for helping people to provide the necessary Christmas money. This CHRISTMAS CLUB gives to everyone, man, woman, boy and girl, the opportunity to anticipate the needed Christmas funds.

Millions of people have found that the Christmas Club meets a long felt need. They have found that they could deposit small sums, hardly missed regularly every week and when the days for Xmas shopping came around, they had the necessary wherewithal with which to purchase the gifts they wished to make.

Your Speech Secretary

HOW much you depend upon her every day in your business!

You never see her—yet she is always at hand when you need her.

You hear only her voice as it comes to you swiftly in response to your summons.

No person in the world can put you in intimate personal touch with so many people, in so many different parts of the country, so quickly as your speech secretary—the telephone operator.

Her service secures for you interviews often ahead of men who may be sitting in the offices of prospects.

And the weight of your words is not less because they come by telephone. If they are logical, convincing, their power is just as great as though you sat across the desk from the man to whom you wish to sell.

Our business office may be able to help you increase sales and lower costs through carefully planned use of your telephone service. This assistance is given without cost or obligation.

Demonstrate Method Of Curing Bacon

LEXINGTON, Dec. 6.—(AP).—With the Christmas holidays coming on, home-cured ham and bacon have lost none of their popularity, according to Grady Sellards of the College of Agriculture extension division, who is giving demonstrations in up-to-date methods of curing and curing pork in many counties this fall and winter.

Thirty demonstrations have been scheduled for Mason, Breathitt, Bourbon, Madison, Graves, Washington and Wayne counties. The first one was given its opportunity in the schedule today, and 12 or 14 will be given in Breathitt county the week of December 8th. Similar demonstrations given last year attracted nearly 500 farmers and farm women.

The time-honored curing method of salt and sorghum is used by Mr. Sellards. The following are among essential points stressed at the meetings:

Be sure that carcass is thoroughly cooled out, as the animal heat is apt to promote spoiling.

Trim hams, shoulders, and bacon neatly. Fat edges do not make good cured product. They should be rendered into lard or made into sausage.

Put a layer of salt on each layer of meat. Meat may be packed in oak barrel or on table. If barrel is used, provide holes in cotton for drainage.

Remove from salt. Brush off all the crusty layer of salt, wash in luke warm water, hang up and let drip several hours. Temperature 65 degrees.

Three days after removal from salt, smoke with hardwood, hickory preferred, from three to six days, or until amber in color.

Let hang two days before making second application of sorghum. Hang in dry, dark smoke house.

PURSEMAKERS LIKE STANDARD SIZE FOR BILL

BERLIN, Dec. 6.—(AP)—The lack of a standard size of recent years, for German paper money, or rather of a standard that could be expected to endure, has made difficulties for the manufacturers of pocketbooks. They never know what size to trim their leather.

The new paper money of today, the rooster mark, has approximately the shape of the American green back, but is a little smaller. Its permanence seeming well assured, the bill-fold makers are giving their full blast to meet an active demand.

That's the trouble with summer. Warm weather makes you so lazy you sit down and start thinking.

THEIR DREAM NEVER CAME TRUE!
Mrs. Harding's Grandchildren Never Visited White House

BY JACK FEEHAN

MARION, Ohio, Dec. 6.—This is the story of the dream that never came true.

It is the dream of two little youngsters about the day they would go to visit their grandmother in the White House.

Two years and a half Mrs. Florence Kling Harding reigned as its mistress—but never once while she was "first lady" did her grandchildren enter the sacred precincts of the great old mansion where Lincoln, McKinley and Roosevelt all lived.

Often they asked to be taken there. But always they were told they were too young. In a little while—yes, when they were older, they could go.

And so George Neely De Wolfe and his sister, Jeanne, began building their abodes, as all children do.

They would sit long hours at a stretch talking of the fun they would have when they went down to Washington to see their grandmother who lived in the White House.

But They Never Saw "Laddie Boy."

They would picture themselves ordering the butlers and serving maids about in the dining room, or shooting cannonballs to the policemen at the doors.

They would see themselves out in the yard plucking the pretty White House flowers and romping about with Laddie Boy on the rolling green lawn.

And what fun it would be to play tag up and down the great white staircases on rainy days; to explore the rooms and the closets upstairs; to scamp, at will, into the executive offices to sit at the president's own desk!

But their dreams, like so many other childhood dreams, never were fulfilled. Some day, perhaps, they would have been, but—

It's clear Warren's cordywife

President Warren G. Harding,

the only grandfather they ever knew, died when his term of office was only a little more than half through, and their grandmother came back to Marion again.

They did not see much of her, though, for her health was poor, and she was confined to a sanatorium most of the time. And then they were saddened by the news of her death. She, like their grandfather, was gone.

But even on her deathbed Mrs. Harding, who used to send them toys, nice clothes and candies from the White House, remembered them. She made a will leaving them the bulk of her estate.

They Receive Half A Million

Now George, at 12 and Jeanne, 15, find themselves very wealthy. They will share equally in a fortune estimated at half a million dollars, at least—the last bequest from their grandmother.

The thought of all the money, though, hasn't affected either of the children one bit.

George still has his paper route. He is starting out in the newspaper again just as his father started years ago, delivering the Marion Star, the newspaper his step-grandfather, with Mrs. Harding's help, made nationally famous.

And while he is delivering his papers, Jeanne is at home helping her mother with the housework. She is learning, as all girls should, how to manage a home.

Jeanne, too, is determined to obtain all the education she can. And besides what she will learn in school, she wants to learn to keep house neatly, cook well and sew well.

Harding Very Fond of Them

And their stepfather, Roscoe D. Meador, city salesman for a local grocery house, also will assure you that the children's new wealth will make no difference in their lives—for the present, anyway.

School every day until they are through high school and college. After that, they may map out their own careers.

The request is to be held trust until they are 28. At 21, they will begin to receive its net earnings in equal shares annually. In the event one dies, the entire estate will go to the surviving child.

The Meadors live in a comfortable brick home—large and good-looking—in the south end of town. On the front porch are a sled and a bicycle that let you know there is someone else besides grown folks residing there.

To the world at large, it was news that Mrs. Harding was a grandmother. Few knew she had a son, Marshall Eugene De Wolfe, by a former marriage. He died in Denver 13 years ago, leaving two children.

BALTIMORE TO STAGE

POPULAR POLO NEXT YEAR

BALTIMORE, Dec. 6.—(AP)—Encouraged by attendances running into the thousands at polo games played at Pikesville, a suburb, last summer, the organization of a polo association to embrace seven teams in the vicinity of Baltimore has been begun by persons interested in the game.

Teams already in the field are those of the Sixth Field Artillery, Fort Hays; Third Corps Area Headquarters, Baltimore; the 110th Field Artillery, Pikesville; and the 62nd Cavalry Division, O. R. Camp Meade, Camp Franklin, and Fort Howard are to be represented by teams yet to be organized. The latter three aggregations are scheduled to train in riding halls during the winter.

With receipts from last summer's contests the Pikesville field is to be extended to regulation dimensions and resodded.

CLIMAX NEWS

At the school house last Wednesday night our teachers, Miss Roberts and Miss McDonald again showed their ability to train children when they gave the second of a series of entertainments for school year. The house was crowded and the children did exceptionally well with their songs, recitations and plays.

For the past ten or twelve years our camp has had a community Christmas tree. This year is to be no exception. We are planning for this to be the biggest and best entertainment as well as treat for the children that have had. Every child in camp receives a number of toys besides candies, nuts and fruits. E. L. Johnson will go to Cincinnati the first of next week to buy the toys. The program has been arranged and the children being trained.

Dewey Smith, who was slightly injured in the mines a few days ago, is able to be out again.

Dave Smith had a hand injured this week.

Miss Gladys McDonald is spending the week end with homefolks at Pineville.

Mat Gibson was called to Harlan Sunday on account of his son, Doyle, being injured in a mine accident near there Thursday.
